Presently working at: IBM Global Services India Pvt. Ltd.

I am presently working at our Software Development Centre in Pittsburgh, in the “IBM Distributed Computing Environment” project as a software Developer.

From: July, 2003
To: Date.

Designation : Software Engineer
Role : Team Member

Work Description and Performance at Work: I am a software developer at IBM, in a maintenance project, the IBM Distributed Computing Environment(DCE). The project’s aim involves modifying source code in order to fix problems faced by customers. This entails analysis of the problem at hand, communication with the customer, Level 2 support, my own team members and testing teams, identification of the code change and shipping the deliverable to the customer.

My performance at work has been of a very high grade. I have been assigned tasks of handling important and high-profile customers when they were facing major issues like production system outage (critical situations’ in IBM terminology) very early during my term here. I have handled these with aplomb, and have my mark as a very important contributor to the success of the project. I have been handling vital tasks like Project status reporting, task assignment to team members and conduction of team meetings for almost a year now. I was sent to our customer site in Pittsburgh this August as our team’s only customer facing software Engineer.

BE Project:

Along with my teammates, I created a highly fault tolerant network using a Certification Authority in the cutting edge technology areas of Network security as part of my BE Project. The project was displayed at Pune’s premier project exhibition in the Pune Institute of Computer Technology(PICT).

Achievements:

- I have been awarded the “Bravo Award” by IBM in October 2005. This award honours those that are considered the best of IBM, and those who have shown great passion and dedication to their work.
- I have been identified as a Subject Matter Expert on Communication at IBM. I was part of an international team of such experts that was consulted in a 3 month project aimed at creating software that would help Software Developers communicate better.
- I have been selected as a trainer with IBM’s Center of Competency.
- I have successfully guided and managed a group of four Final Year Pune University BE students in their final year project.
- I have represented my college and won in National and State Level paper presentation competitions

Strengths:

➤ As a communicator:

Communication in the English language has been my forte, both written and spoken.

- ✓ My role as Maintenance Engineer and Customer Facing Engineer entails a great deal of communication with team members, India management, Pittsburgh Management and with the final customer.
- ✓ I have contributed articles regularly to IBM’s Technical Data Store
- ✓ I have contributed articles to my BE College Journal and have participated in the College level Debating competitions and won in 2001, the Second Prize in the Harsharanjan Jindal Debating Competition organized by the AISSMS College of Engineering, Pune.
- ✓ I have edited the College Magazine, Srujan, during 2001-02.
- ✓ I enjoy public speaking, and have addressed gatherings on numerous occasions.

➤ As an Organizer:

- ✓ I led a team that Managed and Organized “Lets Talk”, an Inter-Project Knowledge Sharing Initiative in IBM.
- ✓ Organized Department wide Extra Curricular Activities during a funded month long Extravaganza.
- ✓ Have held the post of General Secretary, Computer Engineering Students Association, AISSMS’s College Of Engineering, Pune and have managed and organized several events under its banner.
- ✓ Have been the Joint General Secretary of the “AISSMS College Magazine Committee”.
- ✓ Captained the computer branch team in inter department Cricket and Volleyball competitions.

Each of these roles gave me rich experiences in organizing and leading a team, from which I have learned a lot.

➤ As an Engineer

I pride myself at being someone who can come up with innovative and off-beat solutions to Engineering problems. I have the ability to logically analyse a problem, correlate various principles and axioms and bring out a solution to it.
